AMERICAN CALAN INC.

American Calan Incorporated is a U.S. based corporation that specializes in supplying specialty feeding equipment used at animal research centers throughout the agriculturally developed world. Our customers include US, Canadian and foreign agricultural universities. Many of these universities possess extensive animal and veterinary research departments. Pharmaceutical companies such as Monsanto, Pfizer, Hoffman LaRoach and Nutreco have made extensive use of our equipment in the development of modern feed additives. Much of our equipment is completely manufactured at our New Hampshire facility. However, in the case of the Calan Super Data Ranger, Rovibec plays an important role. Their pioneering experience with the Super Mix made them an excellent candidate to work with us on the development and manufacture of the Super Data Ranger.

Our association with Rovibec began in 1998 when Rovibec agreed to manufacture a sophisticated mobile feed mixing unit to meet our specifications for a refined mixing, weighing and control system that far exceeds requirements of the commercial farm market. During the last 12 years we have maintained a seamless relationship with Rovibec whereby we work together with respect to product improvements to guarantee a first class product is delivered to our customers.

We at American Calan have accumulated a broad knowledge of what is happening in the theatre of dairy and beef cattle feeding technology. Based on this knowledge, it is our opinion that Rovibec's management and staff are personally committed to being the top world manufacturer of stationary and self propelled feeding systems. Rovibec's automated stationary rail feeding system that is used both in tie stall barns and free style barns is really quite extraordinary. I know of no other company that has been as successful in combining computer technology and control system technology with mechanical systems that can compete with Rovibec's success in this market place. It is one thing to successfully develop such systems. It is quite another thing to produce such equipment, sell it to customers and successfully maintain this high tech equipment in the field. Rovibec and its dealer network have done it all. Rovibec is an outfit that is large enough to get the job done and small enough to really care about what they do. Hats off to a great team!
